

Kent Cottage at Landfall Brigus, Newfoundland and Labrador

Writer in Residence 2010 Call for Expressions of Interest

Landfall Trust Inc. is a registered charity established through the legacy of Bradley Jacob Folensbee, Jr. (Jake)—a dedicated educator, artist, photographer, writer and musician. The Trust shares Jake's vision for the preservation and conservation of Kent Cottage and the surrounding eleven acres that constitute Landfall, located in Brigus, Conception Bay, Newfoundland and Labrador. For further details we invite you to visit www.landfalltrust.org

In keeping with Kent Cottage's history of inspiration for resident artists and writers, including such historical figures as Rockwell Kent and A.E. Harris, the Trust has been hosting writers on a casual basis since 2005. The Trust is now inviting Expressions of Interest from established writers who are residents of Newfoundland and Labrador and are interested in the 2010 two-week Writer in Residence program from September 11 to 24, 2010.

During this two-week period, the successful applicant will be supported through the use of the fully equipped cottage, free of charge, as an inspirational setting for his or her writing, with an expectation that there will be a public presentation of work forthcoming during or after the residency.

Interested writers should apply in writing to the Landfall Trust. Applications should include:

- A current resume, including information related to your writing, publishing and experience in public and educational programming.
- A proposal for a public presentation in an area school or community library. Some financial support may be available through the Visiting Artists Program of the Newfoundland and Labrador Arts Council, see www.nlac.ca
- An explanation of how this residency would contribute to the objectives of the Landfall Trust and your work as a writer.

Deadline for submission is February 28, 2010, and submissions may be emailed to admin@landfalltrust.org

We thank you for your interest in the Landfall Trust and look forward to receiving your application.